In accordance with notice previously given by Mr. Chandler, he called up the resolution in regard to the Corbett case and made a speech in favor of seating the Senator from Oregon.

Mr Chandler submitted in opening his argument in opposition to the proposed resolution a supplementary statement from Mr Corbett himself in which he discussed some points of the case and defined his personal position. Mr Chandler misintained that whenever a vicancy occurred in the Senate and the legislature of the State had failed to fill the vacancy the governor of the State had the corstitutional rights to fill it by appointment.

A Question for the People. We notice that the committee to whom was referred the resolve relating to proposed thanges in the City Charter, the effect of which will be to abolish the Common Council and create a Board of Aldermen composed of twenty-oue memreported in favor of the change. The suance of the duties assigned to it the so as to have it in suitable shape for presentation to the next Legislature and will present the matter complete at the next meeting of the City Government.

It seems to us that it would first be If to ascertain whether the people of this city desire their charter awended in accordance with the plan here outlined. Changing the Cir Charter 14 an Inichanging the Cry Charter is an important step and should not be taken burnedly or without some expression from the people. It is true that this question of abolishing the lower board trace, question of abolishing the lower board has been suggested from time to time but the subject never has been discussed as it should be before inaugurating such adjuiced on both sides of the contro-tersy. The ont-board plan may have its advantages, but so also has the present system which has been in use for a good.

Everybody's liable to itching piles.
Rich and poor, old and young—terrible safe, can't fail. many years. It is argued that all the business is done in the upper board and we are of the opinion that this is frequently the case, but if so the fault rests vith the lower board, the powers of which are clearly defined and cannot be usurped unless by its own consent.

The purpose of this niticle, however, is not to enter upon a discussion of the ments of the proposition, but rather to urge that the whole matter should go to the people in some form before it is presented to the Legislature. There is certainly to hurry as the Legislature does not meet for almost a year, thus affording ample time in which to learn whether such a change as is proposed is demandd by the people.

Fine saying that a lie will travel a leigue while truth is putting on its boots, does not apply to the story about a classic of least in speaker Reed on the Hawmian question. Before this false-hood had fairly got a start it has been overtaken and knocked on the head by an authoritative deals. Mr. Reed has not modified his hostile attitude on the same action project in the slightest degree.

The Herald will have to a sume the resupposibility for "this falsehood" so fe is its circulation in Yew England i concerned, as its news despatch is now going the rounds of the press Foreign Trade Increased.

One by one the counts filed against the new tariff law by its freetrade opponents disappear before the substantial facts established by the operation of that law It will be remembered that the Demoerats made the most of the protesta enered against the ther proposed legislation by several foreign countries, it being argued that a protective tariff arousng to much opposition abroad could not fail to reduce our fareign trade. This was the theme of many long-winded speeches in Congress and the free trade press fairly reveiled in the thought that the Republican protectionats were going to over-reach themselves. Lke the individual who congratulated nameelf on the fact that he had his laugh before encountering the bull, our previously hilarious Democratic friends can now tell each other what a good time notrun ap against some exizemely discouraging figures, from the free trade standpoint. Full reports of foreign trade during five months of the operation of the Dingley law are now accessible, the D.cember figures having just been completed by the Bureau of Statutics. The Dingy law went nato effect in the closing days of July and it is thus possible to present he complete figures showing the commerce of the I nited States during the five months of August, September, October, November and December. Fourteen countries presented protests against the Dingley tariff law, and the claim of the opponeurs of that measure was that unless those protests were heeded in the final enactment of the nessure American sales to the nations But an examination of the figures for so protesting would be greatly reduced. the five months since the Dingley law vent late effect, from August 1, 1897, to January 1, 1898, shows a large increase over the sales made during the corresponding months in the preceding year. A further examination shows that even in manufactured goods, in which it was lusisted that there must be under the new tariff a large falling off in exports. there has been a substantial increase, in-Head of the reduction predicted. A still further examination of trade relations with the countries which entered formal protests against the Dingley tariff bill demonstrates that our sales in those countries have increased, and, ludeed, that the remarkable gain which the United States has made in foreign sales since the enactment of the Dingley iaw has been almost exclusively to the very countries which offered those protests, and which the Democratic orators declared would close their doors against commerce unless their protests were beeded. Scarcly a single instance is found la the entire list in which purchases from us have been reduced, while In most of them the increase in purchases has been large-so large as of itself practically to account for the entire. nomenal gain in foreign trade which the last lew months has recorded.

The countries whose protests were The countries whose protests were brought to the attention of Congress, nearly all of them in a formal and official, way, were Great Britain, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Reigium, Italy, Japan, Chian, Denmark, Argentine, Marking List A.M., Selection H.M. corresponding five months of the pre-ceding year under the Wilson law. Even in manufactured articles, whose ncreased sales abroad have been attribated by the, free traders to the Wilson law, it is found that the suice since the enactment of the Dingley law have been larger than in the corresponding months of last year, under the Wilson law. The following table, taken from the

CUBAN INDEPENDENCE.

Resolutions on that Subject introduced in Congress.

Segators Cameron and Wason Presented

Them so Tuesday.

Washington, Feb. 8.-Sepator Cann

washington, Feb. 8.—Senator Cannon today offered the fellowing resolution for the recognition of Cuban independence. Whereas the people of the Republic of Cuba are, and of right ought to be, free and independent of the cuba set.

Frederick Brist is well known in Augusta police circles and has been brought before the public, by the police, many times. Sunday he got drunk and many times. Studay he got drunk and sild his horse for $4. He took the harness and putting it on himself started up the street by a circuitous route. He was in very bad shape and barely able to get along when Officer Chase took him to call on Marshal Morse. Frederick was before Judge Andrews Monday morning and given '90 days and costs. He told a pitlini tale of going to work. He told a pitlini tale of going to work cutting wood in Wieders, so the mittimus was anapended with the understanding that if he showed his face in town ugain at present the sentence would be in full force.

ind independent; and,

It was sweet and apparently all right, so a ess of the peoples of the Western Hemis phere, and is full justification for a de-mand by the government of the United States that Spain shall withdraw her Biddeford paper save. The fish and game department at the State House will soon have a j ckenipe added to its collection. The snipe is one Berry, superintendent of the Monmouth hatchery, who killed the bird for the co'hatchery, who killed the bird for the collection at the Capitol. It is a very rare occurrence to see one of these birds in this part of the country during the winter months, although they are alwayshere in the summer season, and no one can find a possible excuse for the presence of the bird in this cold country, when he was supposed to be in the sunny South

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Maine Mile Track Association it was voted to hold race meetings or the following dates: From August I to 6, the first stake meeting; August 22 to 26, New England or R gov Fail; Sept. 12 to 17, the last stake meeting.

The Waterville Trust Co. completed ita reorganization Monday afternoon in the election of Hon. I. C. L bby, press dent: Daviel Libby, E. J. Lawrence, C. W. Abbot and P. S. Heald on the ex-cubve hoard; H. R. Dunham, C. E. Lubby, E. J. Liwtence and S. A. Nye, directors: S. S. Brown, clerk. R. E. Atwood, the treasurer, resigned, and Harry L. Holmes, of Fairfield, was elected. A recognization of this corporation became necessary faom Hon. I. C. Libby having obtained a controlling laterest or stock and virtually clicting himself president, deposing Horace Purinon, and causing the full hoard of managers to resign. The affairs of the corporation and the blast, howling derisively, snapped all of them out of the wallet and scattered them abroad in the air and and scattered them abroad in the air and over the snow. There were a dezen or more bystanders, and they twooped down on the fluttering bills like so many king fishers. Some of the money skated away likely-larry over the snow and the men who went after it never came back. Perhaps they are still chasing it. When the flustered and perapiring citizen floatily counted up what was returned to him he had only $130. It was then that he concluded that riches truly had wings. As to what portion of the wealth crawled late the pockets of the crowd for warm he had no way of determining but he had some suspicion.

The latter merely grasps with these invulsted tongs the spike, built, horseshoe or other object which is to be beated and dipt it into the liquid. That's all. When it is hot enough he turns to his savil and ham ners the thing or drops it where another workman can pick it up, and then uses he magic tongs afresh to handle something else.

se. The why and wherefore of the opera-water, the tongs and the iron spike which the workman wishes to heat are all excellent conductors of electricity. But the Bim of hydrogen gas which forms around the negative pole, the limmersed iron is a poor one. The resistance which it offers produces intense heat and does to instantly. That effect would not be observed if a feeble current were employed. But a powerful current requires better facilities for travel than a weak one, and if its demands are not complied with it gets whot in the collar." The heat thus generated is imparted to the iron rather than the water, at the point of contact. Hence the effects which have been observed.

The subject which has recently been the subject of experiment in Newark, and which eventually ought to prove serviceshle in certain lines of industry, was devised by a Boston man, George D. Button. But the fundamental idea of it was discovered about five years ago by two Belgians, Ligrange and Hohe, who took out patents in Germany. It was believed at one time that the system could be applied on a very much larger scale than Mr. Burton proposes, and that it might prove useful in the treatment of armor plate. Negoriations were conducied for a trial of the process at the Krupp works in Essen —New York Tribune.

Over in Newark the other day, when tests of the device were being made, it was found that a rallroad spake fully an inch to diameter acquired a cherry tint iffly seconds after it was dipped into the coad bath, while a half-inch screw bolt came to a white heat is elighten seconds. When the new system is brought to perfection and introduced into bother shops, earriage becomes it is likely to show its superiority over the old one at two or three points. For instance, in the liquid forge only that part of the from which is actually submerged receives the direct action of the heating process, and it is acted upon uniformly along that much of its surface; whereas, when it is picked down into live coads on a hearth the chances are that either since or less of the iron is healed than the workman wishes and that one part will be much hotter ard solter than another. Then again, when the iron is worked in the common forge it oxidizes and gives if cales, thus wasting the material, weak-ring the fit in 1900. There is much res-

Sir) Benj. n in Ward Richardson made a thorough investigation of the antisepire and healing properties of peroxide of hydrogen. This was, however, before the dawn of bacfericlogy, and or ing to this reason as well as probably to the inferior and impure nature of the earlier forms of the remedy, it achieved lit the reputation. It is only of late that peroxide of hydrogen in its repently developed form, the pure and powerful solution known as hydro zone, has come to the front as the temedy pointed out by science for the destruction of microbian infectum in the human organism, espe enally in the membrane of the stomach and bowels

Inflammation of the stemach, or gastritis, is the result of microbian infection, a bacillus produced fer mentation due to one or more of variety of causes, such as overeat ing or overdrinking, imperfect masteation unwholesome food or drink the use of alcohol or of corresive and goserous drugs, which pro duce a disturbance in the relative proportions of the main constituentof the gastrie juice (muriatic acid and pepsin), and so lead, through indigestion, to dangerous disorders, such as constipation, diarrhea and atarrhal inflammation of the bow

The importance of an early remedy cannot, therefore, be overesti-mated. The rational treatment is as follows:

First - Destroy the unhealthy nucus without injuring the tissue beneath Second.- Heat the diseased mem brane in order to restorothe normal functions of the peptic glands. This is the method employed by Dr. John Aulde of Philadelphia and is briefly described in the following condensed account:

"In gastritis we have to deal with an unhealthy condition of the buing membrane of the stomach. When it is considered that there are about 600 prescriptions for dyspopsia and gastric disorders, ranging from the use of simple bicarbonate of soda to cocoaine and strychnine which cannot cure, but only afford temporary rehef, while the weaken ing of the vitality of the ammal cells of the membrane still continues toward the point where the peptic glands cease their functions, the importance of the use of a powerful yet harmless antiseptic becomes at once apparent. - New York Medical
